Form 990, Part III, Line 1 - Organization Mission

LAAW's mission is to advance justice and economic opportunity for poor and low-income people and their families at work, in school, and in the community. We fight to ensure that all workers are afforded equal and fair treatment pursuant to local, state, and federal laws.

Our staff and Board believe that work and workplace conditions are critical social determinants of health and that employment is essential to self-sufficiency, affords dignity, and facilitates civic engagement.

LAAW acts on these principles through a variety of strategies, including:

- conducting targeted community outreach and education,
- building the capacity of grassroots organizations, medical service providers, and community-based partner organizations around California to understand and advocate for their rights on the job and beyond.
- providing brief legal advice and counsel to low-wage workers through in-person legal clinics and legal telephone helplines
- engaging in strategic litigation to both improve the law for workers and to enforce key workplace protections

LAAW serves diverse clients, many of whom experience unlawful treatment because of their race, ethnicity, national origin, language preference/proficiency, gender, pregnancy, caregiving responsibilities, sexual orientation, disability, citizenship status, abuse or trauma survivor status, or military service. A significant number of LAAW's clients are monolingual Spanish, Mandarin, or Cantonese speakers or have limited-English proficiency. We have bilingual staff onsite to assist them.

Civil rights violations that low-income clients face include:

- Discrimination, harassment, violence, and/or retaliation;
- Wage theft;

Form 990, Part III, Line 1 - Organization Mission

- Denial of family medical leaves;
- Denial of disability accommodations;
- Denial of equal athletic and educational opportunities to girls in low-income neighborhoods; and
- Failure to provide and maintain facilities in schools or public spaces that are compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act
- Denial of Unemployment or State Disability Insurance.
- Human trafficking.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a - Program Service Accomplishments

- We helped an unhoused, formerly incarcerated client keep his living-wage job when his employer threatened to rescind his job offer because a background check had turned up old parole revocations. Within 48 hours, we helped the client negotiate with his employer and retain his union job, which ultimately landed him in stable housing.
- We fought to secure reasonable accommodations for people with disabilities who were impacted by COVID-19. For example, we obtained a favorable settlement on behalf of an office manager whose dedicated service of 15 years had abruptly ended because her boss fired her for requesting telework accommodations in the midst of the pandemic.
- On the 50th Anniversary of Title IX (which requires gender equity in public schools) we and co-counsel won an appeal in the 9th Circuit that allowed female athletes at Hawaii's largest public high school to proceed with a class action lawsuit alleging egregious sex discrimination against girls in the school's athletic program.
- Along with coalition partners, we successfully championed Legislation (SB 951) that will dramatically increase the amount of money that workers with low incomes can obtain from California's Paid Family Leave and Disability Insurance programs. Before this legislation, people with low incomes (who are disproportionately people of color) often could not afford to use these vital programs because the wage replacement rate was simply too low.

- We helped immigrant workers statewide by securing a precedent-setting decision from the California Court of Appeal. It held that California law bars defense counsel from inquiring into immigrant plaintiffs' work authorization except in the narrowest of circumstances and upon a strict showing of legal necessity.
- In partnership with Trabajadores Unidos Workers United (TUWU), we helped secure a decision from the California Labor Commissioner for $2.2 million in stolen wages for former employees of a Burger King franchise in San Francisco who were subjected to wage theft.
- We provided individualized legal advice and counsel to approximately 3,000 people in the past year, including through our 13 regular Workers' Rights Clinic sites (and 4 additional evening clinics to meet increased client demand) throughout California that we operate in close partnership with 8 law schools, 150 law students, 100 volunteer attorneys, and 11 community based organizations.
